

Topic: Conflict in the Colonies

Cue

Notes

How much money is needed?

Great Britain Raises Taxes

- parliament passes sugar act to raise money for army - 1764
- cracked down on smugglers

Why didn't they have representation in parliament?

Taxation Without Representation

- Colonists were mad since they had no say in parliament.
- Samuel Adams organized the Committees of Correspondence
- Begin to boycott British goods

Why were the tax on paper?

The Stamp Act

- Tax on paper goods - 1764
- got stamp for buying paper
- Colonists claimed it was a violation of rights
- Sons of Liberty against tax collectors
- 1766 - stamp act repealed

How many people were protesting?

Who was everyone killed in the massacre?

Townsend Acts:

- Taxed various goods
- Britain reacted to protest with sending troops to Boston

Did colonists pay for tea?

After the French and Indian War,

the British Parliament

had to pay for the war. They put taxes on the colonies

but the colonies didn't want to be taxed but were not represented. The colonists rebelled and things escalated quickly.

Boston Massacre/ Boston Tea Party

- people unhappy with troops
- colonists throw snowballs at troops, so they shoot back
- 3 die, but colonists exaggerate
- tea act causes colonists to dump tea into Boston Harbor

Intolerable Acts:

- closed harbor, colonists house soldiers, political changes
- colonists just got angrier